

dried + preserved

PRODUCT GUIDE

So, what's the difference?

dried flowers

Dried products are naturally dried.

They are typically very stiff & rigid, and therefore less able to be bent and manipulated for design purposes.

Colors will fade naturally overtime.

preserved flowers

Preserved items are chemically-treated to enhance their appearance and longevity.

They tend to be soft & supple, and remain flexible enough to bent & manipulated within the design.

Colors will remain in tact, but can lose their color when wet. Be cautious how you use preserved products as the dyes they are treated with can cause stains on linens and dresses.
